CENTRAL HIGH SCHOOL

Central, you've been a friend, kind and true,
Through all our days spent here with you;
But time must go on, and the parting is near,
Though to us, Central High, you will ever be dear.

Central, a name that always will mean
Something far more than merely a dream.
For all that you've given in work and in play,
By loyalty and love we'll strive to repay.

—B. Laramie '30

FOREWORD

This Annual is a treasure chest wherein lies the previous memories of our Senior year. Intermingled with sketches representing the age of chivalry, we have recorded our activities. May this book be a source of pleasure in future years to the Class of '30 and to all those who glance over its pages.

DEDICATION

To the faculty of the Girls' Central High School, who for the past four years have shared our joys and sorrows, who put forth untiring effort that the ideals of truth and honor which prevailed in the age of knighthood might be instilled in us, we, the Seniors, in grateful appreciation, dedicate the 1930 Centralite Annual.

SCHOOL SONG

CENTRAL HIGH

Central Hi School, Central Hi School,

I love you,

For, high and mighty are the things
you always do;

And no matter if it's work, no matter
if it's play

We'll stick by you thru rain or shine
and day by day,

We'll cheer for:

Chorus

Central Hi School, Central Hi School,

We will be, fair and square,

For spotless is the name you bear;

When school days are days of old,

High and proud our heads we'll hold.

Central High, we're all for you.

CLASS HISTORY

1926-27

Destined to become a great crowd of pep-producing students, the Class of '30 entered Central's portals of learning. Our first year was a triumph, crowned by success in every enterprise.

We won both Centralite subscription drives; carried away honors in the swimming meet; and won the prize for the Frolic stunt.

1927-28

For two successive years our number was largest on the honor roll. Again we took the prize for the best stunt at the Frolic. During this year, our athletic ability showed excellence. At the annual swimming meet, we won highest honors; during the basketball season, a better spirit of co-operation and sportsmanship could not be found.

One sad occurrence during our Sophomore year, was the death of our class teacher, Sister Mary Seraphine.

1928-29

Throughout our high school career, we have been marked for our activity in all school functions, and especially, during our Junior year did we uphold this record.

We formed a dramatic Club, under the direction of Helen Venus and Helen O'Connell, and presented many clever plays.

In both scholastic and athletic affairs we were well represented. Thais Giroux was given the distinction of writing Central's school song. Catherine Meglen was selected from our class to attend the Vocational Congress at Bozeman. This year we won the swimming meet, and placed third in basketball. Helen O'Connell was chosen to represent us on Central's skating team in the city meet.

By editing the April issue of the Centralite, we proved ourselves very capable in journalistic work.

1929-30

Now we began the year to which we had always looked forward. Success after success has been added to Central's fame this year.

Two successful Centralite drives were directed by the Seniors. In the annual drive, Helen O'Connell, Senior, was winner.

Irene O'Keefe won first prize in a Spanish contest conducted by the La Prensa newspaper in New York.

Eleven journalists were admitted to membership in the Quill and Scroll society.

Margaret Stanaway was elected cheer leader, and proved herself an organizer and leader by cheering the "Maroons" to victory.

Claire O'Reilly won double honors in speaking and writing. She represented Central in the District Oratorical Contest, winning third place. In a contest conducted by Quill and Scroll, she won fourth place in the Western District for feature writing.

Among our social affairs we managed a peppy Frolic, held at the K. C. Gym.

Thus we end the history of one of the most distinguished classes, and hope that our future will be ruled by the happiness and success of our high school days at Central.

—Florence Harrington '30

CLASS WILL

We, the graduating class of nineteen thirty, do, on this fourth day of June, our last in the beloved school of Central, leave in our last will and testament, to the school, faculty, classes, and certain individuals, the following articles:

To the school, we leave our sincere hopes of a new foundation—you'll need it soon.

To the faculty, we express our wishes that they will be soon teaching in our new Central.

To the Freshies, we leave our beaus in the Senior Class.

To the Sophomores, we leave all that remain—try to find it.

To the Juniors, we leave our pep, loyalty, and class spirit—guard it well, Juniors, it's sacred.

To our certain individuals, beforehand mentioned, we bequeath the following:

Dreta Blessinger leaves her position of bell ringer to Esther Connole. Will she ever reach it?

Claire O'Reilly leaves her success as a literary writer to Mary Brooke.

Ceil Harrington leaves her permanent wave to Marie King.

Ann Murphy leaves her stately figure to Lois Sullivan—may she profit by it.

Mary Cullinan leaves her small 12's to Lucille Ryan—new shoes for Lucille.

Alice Dwyer leaves her dear silver face to Mae Mulholland—not so bad, Mae.

To Catherine Connolly, Marg Stanaway wishes to leave her position of “blonde” cheer leader. More power to you, Catherine.

Roberta Sheridan leaves her ability of yelling at the games to Mary Lee; she's some yeller, Mary!

Marg Murphy leaves her parking space in front of Room 1, to June McKeown.

Elizabeth Gill leaves her job as “Captain of the Ship” to Florence Kelley. Sorry she hadn't more Floss.

Florence Harrington leaves her pretty dimples, and winning ways, to the quietest girl in school.

“Bee” Kelly leaves her gum to Nora Brouillette.

To the Principal, hope that our under classmen may be as loyal as we.

Agnes Holland, her punctuality to Marie McMillan.

Mercedes Seaman leaves her speed (as typist) to Mary McGowan.

We, the Seniors, hereby having published our last Will and Testament, at Central High School, in the County of Silver Bow, City of Butte, State of Montana, United States of America, name “Sunny” our mascot, to act as Executor of this, our last Will and Testament.

CLASS PROPHECY

"Buy one while they last," was the cry
I heard as I was passing by.
"The famous memory pill!
Buy a box and get your fill.
It will bring back all the past;
By one while they last."
Oh, could I see my friends of yesterday,
And where each one is today?
As out of a cloud I saw everything clear;
It was old Class "30" to me, so very dear.

Helen Doran and "Murph" to Washington went,
Where now they work for the President.
In the Metropolitan of high repute,
Is Claire O'Reilly, playing a flute.
Jeannette now trips the fantastic toe
Beyond the footlights in Ziegfeld's show.
You remember Helen O'Connell, know as "Sleep,"
Who succeeded in swimming the Atlantic deep?
Marie Riley, a shy little miss,
Played with John Gilbert in "The Kiss."
Elizabeth Kelly, often called "Bee"
Is no less than Countess Du Bantee.

Sister Marrisa was once Ann Brown;
They say she converted a whole town.
Ruth, a well-known aviatrix,
Spends her time in doing tricks.
In Rocker, Andree leads a married life,
And she has made a model wife.
In a vaudeville group Rosemary is leading lady;
Her press agent is Aileen Brady.
Alice's picture is on every magazine cover;
She is known as "the screen's greatest lover."
Catherine Meglen works at a radio station;
Her voice causes much elation.

Over in Paris in a gay cabaret
Is Bessie Laramie dancing away.
Catherine Reilly likes Post Office work;
She does her duty and doesn't shirk.
Ann Morgan flew across the ocean blue;
And beat old Lindy's record, too.
Helen Venus from Central's band,
Now works at Modl's Hot Dog Stand.
In Ireland is the Murphy girl, Marg,
At driving Hudsons, she is a card.

Running a beauty shop is Mary Breen;
Her henna rinses are surely keen.
Down at the Post is Liz McGuirl;
And her witty writings make heads whirl.
Teaching school is Mary Jane Brett
She's very loving, but has no pet.
After Roberta's name is M.D.
Five dollars is her cheapest fee.
"Sis" McCarthy from Centerville,
Is engaged in grinding down that hill.

At the Maid O'Clover, Audrey is queen;
She's some ad for their ice cream.
Ceil Douris, the peroxide blonde, is a chaperon,
And she goes through life all alone.
Margaret Stanaway became a blushing bride,
And bonecrusher Holland was the man at her side.
"Here comes the bride," the organist sang.
'Twas Ann Mihelich of our old gang.
Irene O'Keefe with her patent leather hair;
Is in Congress seated in a Senator's chair.
Ceil, the Butcher's daughter, met an awful fate;
While rowing out at Canty's, she drowned in the lake.

Dreata who used to ring the bell,
Is now married to farmer Dell.
Mary O'Leary fell deeply in love;
She fits in "his" arm like a motorman's glove.
When Ringling Bros. Circus comes to town,
The fortune-teller, Mercedes, gives us the low down.
Elizabeth Gill has an Oriental shop;
Beautiful beads seem to be her crop.
And Margaret Holland of executive fame,
Runs a school for the blind and lame.
Ag Holland was honored by the G. A. R.
For her services in the Chinese War.

Mary Cullinan rows a boat;
She teaches fishes how to float.
Rebecca Harrington is now a nurse;
She makes patients better, or maybe worse.
Around Florence many children I see;
A teacher? No—Mrs. Connolly.
This jolly bunch was of the best,
And surely better than the rest.
Always gay, with never a worry;
For wasn't it old Class '30?

CLASS HISTORY

Full of vim and vigor, the Jolly Juniors returned to school, determined to make a good showing in scholastic, athletic, and social events. They were very successful throughout the year.

A goodly number of Juniors were on each quarterly honor roll. Mary Lee and Catherine Connolly made a brilliant showing in the Chemistry Essay Contest. Their essays placed first and second respectively in the state.

For the second consecutive year, the basketball quintet won the inter-class basketball championship. They downed the fighting Seniors, fourteen to five, in an interesting battle.

The dramatic club presented many clever programs before the assembly. The stage was now set for the crowning social event of the season—the prom. This affair was a social and financial success.

The Juniors have many hopes for success next year, when they will return as Seniors.

CLASS HISTORY

The bewildered "Greenies" of yesterday returned in September, forceful, vigorous Sophomores, determined to push through their second year with earnest endeavors for unsurpassed success.

Their first great achievement was a candy sale, the most prosperous ever witnessed in the history of Central, and connected with it was a unique parcel post, the proceeds from, which will help to purchase a trophy case. Later a dashing, clever, breath-taking operetta presented by these vivacious misses, delighted the entire school, and won for them much applause.

Needless to say they have cooperated faultlessly, doing their share constantly, and not merely for class glory, but always for the success of their school.

CLASS HISTORY

The number of Freshmen enrolled at the beginning of the school year came to a total of eighty-four. When it came to intellectual, and athletic pursuits, the Freshmen were always among the foremost.

Margaret McCarthy not only led the honor roll throughout the year, but also attained the highest average ever made at Central. We showed we were not so green by having the largest number of students on every honor roll.

When pep was required, we had that also. Harriet Freebourn, one of our peppiest classmates, won the title "Miss Centralite" by obtaining 13,250 votes for the subscription drive. Our snappy basketball team was awarded a prize for the best suits. Thus is the account of our successful career of our Freshman year at Central.

THE RETREAT

Under the directions of the Very Reverend N. C. Hoff Ph.D., President of Mount St. Charles College, the third annual retreat was held December 5, 6, 7. The retreat this year was undoubtedly the most successful one ever conducted at Central. The success was largely due to the eloquence of Father Hoff. His clear and vivid manner of speaking deeply impressed the girls.

Each morning the entire student body gathered in the study hall to hear Mass. The rest of the day was devoted to prayer, meditation, and spiritual conferences. One of the most beautiful exercises was Father Hoff's explanation of the Holy Sacrifice of the Mass. Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament closed each day's exercises.

On December eight, the feast of the Immaculate Conception, all the students received Holy Communion. Immediately after Mass, the girls were consecrated to the Blessed Virgin. Father Hoff then closed the retreat by imparting the Papal blessing.

HARRIET FREEBOURN

MISS CENTRALITE

Harriet Freebourn, a Freshman, was declared winner of the title "Miss Centralite" for the year 1929-1930. She is the third girl at Central to be so honored.

Harriet turned in 13,250 votes for the Subscription drive, conducted annually by members of the Centralite staff. She had plenty of competition, but she won by quite a large majority.

She showed good sportsmanship and school spirit all during the drive, and her achievements made the whole school proud of her. In addition to the title, "Miss Centralite," the staff presented her with a maroon monogrammed sweater.

Harriet is to be complimented on her success in the most successful Centralite drive ever conducted.

Other contestants who displayed much enthusiasm during the drive, were Helen O'Connell, Catherine Shepperd, Irene Harrington, Loretta Gavigan, and Hazel Crosby. The drive was directed by Elizabeth McGuirl, business manager of the Centralite. All the students cooperated to make it a success.

Public Speaking and Declamation

Winner of first place in extemporaneous speaking, Florence Harrington represented Central at the district contest in April. In May, at the state contest in Bozeman, she placed among the state's eight best speakers.

Claire O'Reilly won first place in the annual Declamation contest, held on May 5. She participated in the state contest in Missoula. Margaret Stanaway was awarded second place. Six girls took part in this contest.

Constitution Oratorical Contest

In the Oratorical contest held at the school, March 18, in which six Senior girls took part, Claire O'Reilly was unanimously judged the winner. The topic of her oration was "Danger Which Threatens the Constitution in This Modern Age." Bessie Laramie with "The Constitution in the Daily Life of the Undividual" won second place. A gold medal was awarded to Claire and a silver medal to Bessie.

Claire tied for second place in the district contest held in Butte, April fifth.

THE JUNIOR PROM

Dancing crowds, an artistically decorated ballroom, and entrancing music, made the pretty scene of the Junior Promenade held at the Columbia Gardens on April 25.

The ballroom was beautifully decorated with baskets of spring flowers, lanterns, and streamers of Central's colors, maroon and white. A large electrically lighted "Welcome, Seniors" sign greeted the Class of '30 in whose honor the dance was given. Ashworth's orchestra filled the spacious hall with strains of lovely music, enticing old and young to join in merriment.

This affair was a success not only socially, but also financially. The event will go down in history as one of the loveliest ever managed by Central Juniors.

M. Prendergast, J. McKeown, M. Lee, N. Johnson, H. Meade, C. Rafferty.

THE LIBRARY

During the school year, many books have been presented to the library to keep it up-to-date, as it has been for the past few years. Both fiction and reference books were added to last year's collection.

Librarians, who helped by distributing and checking books are: Hazel Sullivan, Catherine O'Donnell, Aileen Brady, Margaret Robbins, Aileen Riley, Lois Crowley, Marie Anderson, and Helen McKeown. The new books were filed and accessioned by Cecilia Harrington, Roberta Sheridan, and Alice Dwyer.

A member of the faculty has charge of the library. She appoints librarians, who take care of the books during one of their free periods.

WRITERS

Again, Central has achieved honors in the literary world. In the school year, just past, two of her students placed in national contests. Irene O'Keefe won second place in the Spanish essay contest, and Claire O'Reilly was awarded fourth place in a feature contest conducted by Quill and Scroll. Mary Breen won the short story Christmas contest held annually by the Centralite staff.

WHEN TO BE NONCHALANT

In the contest sponsored by Quill and Scroll, this story, by Claire O'Reilly, won four place in the Western district.

A real reporter on a real newspaper, and now to keep the job. My heart danced with joy as I realized that the world would at last benefit by talent for writing human interest stories.

Ah, that blond young man over there might be a good character for a sob story. Maybe, if I handle him right, he'll give me a few "back-in-the-woods" ideas about a real city. Kind of lonesome looking chap; probably never been away from his mother before.

I sauntered over to him as bold as you please, and handed him "a big line." Harder to be interviewed than I thought he would be, but, of course, he fell under the spell of my winning personality, and soon he was talking.

"H'm, have only been here for a short while? Well, well, working yet?" "No?" "When are you going back?" "Well, glad you like our city." I walked away humming to myself, "How You Gonna Keep 'em Down on the Farm?" Ha, not so bad for my first day, I soliloquized.

I went back to the office and wrote the story up, and if I do say so, myself, it was good. But when I walked into the office, every one laughed. They thought I was pretty dumb, I guess.

I sat down, picked up a book and began to read. It was the latest book out on interviewing. None of that stuff for me. About three hours later the paper came out. I turned to the second page and looked for my story. It wasn't there.

I ran wildy to the editor's room to see what the trouble was. When I reached the office, James (the star reporter) said to me : "How does it feel to be photo'd with a celebrity?"

"Celebrity, why I don't know." Then he held up the paper and there on the front page was my picture with the blond young man I had interviewed. Underneath the picture it read: "Charles Lindbergh and C. A. Hicks as they were snapped this afternoon, while engaged in lively conversation."

Of course I knew it was Lindbergh. A good reporter always knows all about the person she interviews. All that's the matter with me is that I am too good to write human interest stories. That's all; that's all.

TULIP TIME

LEADING CHARACTERS

Ned Baxter, M. Stanaway; Christina, H. Venus; Aunt Anna, A. Mihelich; Hans, M. Breen; Van Ooster, R. Roe; McSpindle, A. Plennevaux; Katinka, C. Ducheneau; Dick Warren, C. Douris.

TULIP DANCERS—From Act I

Eight girls in tulip costume and carrying baskets of tulips.

DUTCH CLOG DANCERS—From Act II

Twenty girls in characteristic Dutch costumes and wooden shoes.

TULIP TIME

Scene From Act III

A group of American students in "Fight, Fight, Fight," giving the Dutch villagers an exhibition of American school spirit.

THE OPERETTA

One of the most outstanding events of the year was the presentation of the two-act operetta, "Tulip Time." This was given by the Glee Club, under the direction of Miss Kathleen Harris, to whom the success of the production is due.

The stage was beautiful in colors, flowers, and wind-mill setting, depicting the village of Osendorf, Holland, during the tulip festival. Seventy-five girls participated in the brilliantly costumed choruses of American students, villagers and dancers.

Character roles were played by Rose Roe, Helen Venus, Mary Breen, Colette Duchesneau, Anne Mihelich, Andree Plennevaux, Margaret Stanaway, and Ceil Douris.

Miss Kathleen Harris

THE NIFTY SHOPPE

For the St. Patrick's Day program, the Sophomores presented the one-act operetta, "The Nifty Shoppe" for the student body. There was fine singing, acting, and a display of beautiful gowns.

SOPHOMORE CANDY SALE

In November, the Sophomores gave the most successful candy sale ever held at Central. The proceeds will be used to purchase a trophy case. The picture shows the committees in charge.

VICTORIA MATRIS

Celebrating the 2000th anniversary of Virgil's birth, the Latin classes gave a program. Chief features were a Latin play, Victoria Matris, by the Freshmen, and scenes from the Aeneid by the Seniors.

Scenes From the Aeneid

The characters of the Aeneid in their ancient, but beautiful costumes were portrayed by the fourth-year Latin class. Using the language of Virgil, the Seniors enacted dramatic scenes from the Aeneid.

CHEMISTRY ESSAY WINNERS

A. Mihelich

C. Connolly

M. Lee

Two Juniors, Mary Lee, and Catherine Connolly, and Ann Mihelich, a Senior, were winners of first and second places in the State Chemistry Essay contest. The subjects of their essays dealt with the Relation of Chemistry to Agriculture, the Enrichment of Life, and the Cotton Industry.

The winner of first place received a twenty dollar gold piece, and the second place winners were awarded certificates. The three essays were entered in the National contest.

SENIOR FROLIC

Because Easter came so much later this year, the Frolic was not held until May 13. Each class was more than well represented. All the girls attended in masquerade costumes, and friends had a difficult time discovering who was who. There were dancing, stunts by the separate classes, and refreshments.

Near the end of the evening the winner of the best costume and the class who gave the best stunt were announced. Music was furnished by the Senior orchestra, which played some of the jazziest and snappiest tunes of the day. Never was there a gayer time or peppier crowd.

HONOR STUDENTS

H. O'Connell

M. McCarthy

Helen O'Connell won the drive for the annual by securing 100 per cent subscriptions from the Seniors. This is not the first time she has shown her loyalty and school spirit. She has, during her four years of high school, endeavored to make every Central activity successful.

Margaret McCarthy, Freshman, made an outstanding record during her first year at Central. In each honor roll Margaret distinguished herself by having the highest average. At the end of the first quarter, she made 99, the highest average ever attained at Central.

POETS' PAGE

Class '30

What's that? you haven't heard of us?
Our names you can't recall,
And we, the Class of '30,
The noblest class of all!

Why sure! We are the Seniors.
I knew you'd surely guess,
We'll graduate this spring time
From the famous C. H. S.

—R. Harrington '30

Silent Talkies

"Sail that kite with all your might,
And gently close that door;
Serve the tea to guests two or three;
Wake up and learn the score."

"Play that 'cello, sweet and mellow,
To people supposed to be near."
If you've imagination, then take declamation—
And your ship will sail on clear.

—C. Douris '30

Spring Urge

I should like to roam all day
with never a care.
I'd find many pleasant places
Here and there.

I'd seek out the shadiest spot
Under the trees;
And there I'd sit and listen
To the humming of the bees.

—J. Cowley '30

New Central

To old Central they'll soon bid
adieu,
And go to a building so fine and so
new;
We know they will grieve,
When old Central they leave;
For we all love the old school;
we do!

—E. Gill '30

Hopes

My ships that come in are the shadowy kind—
That sail in a far-off sea,
The same as my dreams that never come true,
That are in the heart of me.

Some day, perhaps, when the clouds
melt away,
And the sun smiles on trials forgot,
My phantom ships will be clear and distinct,
And my dreams will come true;
why not?

—A. Murphy '30

Central's Optimist

I'm on my way to buy a dress,
That's what I'm going to do.
I have a coat, I have a hat,
And a darling bracelet, too.

You should see my pretty slippers!
They're trimmed in silver kid.
There's only one thing missing—
I haven't got a bid.

Winner in Poetry Contest

In the National Creative Writing Contest sponsored by Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists, Anne Murphy, Senior, won eighth place in the national division. This is a signal honor as the contest had thousands of entries from the leading high schools in every state, Alaska and Hawaii.

The winning poem, "Winter Magic," was published in the December Centralite. Anne has also contributed other poems to the school paper, among them being "The Little Things," "Autumn Rain," "Hopes," and "To an Absent Mother."

Anne Murphy

WINTER MAGIC

Silly it was of me to think
The garden's loveliness had fled;
That all the purple, green and pink
Were numbered with the sweet things dead.

To think that winter gathered up
Each leaf upon the smallest tree,
Each blade of grass and flower cup,
Was such a silly thing of me.

For when I walked its path today,
The garden gleamed in winter hue;
And snowflakes, beautiful and gay,
Were whispering, "We are pretty, too."

PROGRAMS

The Glee Club and Orchestra held popular places on the programs for '29 and '30.

Armistice Day and Education Week Program—

The public speaking class interested the students with serious and humorous readings.

Columbus Day—

Orchestra and Glee Club featured. Amusing play, "Sardines."

Christmas—

Christmas program on December 21. All classes contributed. Public Speaking class entertain with "The Christmas Guest."

Washington and Lincoln Program—

Selections were given by the Declamation class, the Glee Club and the Orchestra on February 20.

Virgil Program—

Commemorating the two thousandths anniversary of Virgil's birth. Four Latin classes participated.

Spanish Program—

"Las Espanoles Aspirantes" gave an interesting program on May 2. Spanish dialogues, plays, poems, and songs were featured.

Music Week Program—

In observance of National Music Week, vocal and instrumental selections were given under the direction of Kathleen Harris.

ORGANIZATIONS

THE CENTRALITE

The Centralite, the official monthly publication of Central, ascended the heights of fame in 1930.

The Centralite won fourth place in its class, in the national contest sponsored by Columbia University of New York. This was a singular honor, as only the finest papers in the country are entered in this contest.

Eleven members of the staff were initiated into the Quill and Scroll. For so many members of the staff to qualify for membership in this society was, in itself, an outstanding achievement, as the Quill and Scroll has among its members the most talented high school writers.

Many new features were added to the paper this year to make it more newsy and interesting. The staff of 1930 may, indeed, lay down their pens, fully satisfied with their first attempt at journalism.

CENTRALITE STAFF

Front Row—M. Riley, C. Reilly, C. Meglen, H. Doran, M. O'Leary, H. Venus, H. O'Connell.

Second Row—F. Harrington, E. Gill, E. McGuirl, A. Dwyer, A. Plennevaux, M. Cullinan, R. Lively, M. Breen, C. O'Reilly, I. O'Keefe.

SPANISH CLUB

Members of the second year Spanish class this year, organized a dramatic club, and named it "Las Espanoles Aspirantes." At the first meeting, which was held in February, the following officers were chosen: Helen O'Connell, President; Catherine Taylor, vice-president; Rosemary Lively, secretary; and Julia O'Connell, treasurer. Meetings were held on Tuesday of each week, and were conducted entirely in Spanish. A committee of four girls was appointed by the president each week to arrange the program for the following meeting. Programs consisted of a Spanish playlet, poems, and popular Spanish songs. Pins in the form of a shield, with the inscription S. D. C., were selected by members of the club.

The following plays were presented during the year: "La Criada Nueva"; "La Senora y la Mendiga"; "El Doblo Robo"; and "El Pollo Pequeno."

Front Row—M. McDonnell, I. O'Keefe, R. Lively, J. O'Connell, H. O'Connell, K. Taylor, C. Douris, H. Dennehy.

Second Row—A. Pullam, C. Harrington, M. Murphy, M. Robbins, L. Crowley, A. Mihelich, M. Breen, M. Anderson.

Third Row—M. Cullinan, H. Stevens, C. Meade.

GLEE CLUB

Due to the fact that so many of the girls joined the Glee Club this year, it was divided into two groups, the Senior and the Junior. The Seniors and Juniors made up the first group, although a few Sophomores and Freshmen were allowed to join. The second Glee Club contained Sophomores and Freshmen, while the altos belonged to both groups. For the retreat, a number of girls were picked from both divisions to form a choir.

At every school entertainment the Glee Club sang a number of selections, which were well received. At the declamation contest and commencement exercises, thirty girls selected from both groups sang several numbers. All the success of the Glee Club was due to the superior training the girls received from Miss Harris.

Second Row—L. Sullivan, O'Leary, Mihelich, Gill, O'Donnell, O'Keefe, Kelly, Kelly, O'Leary.

Third Row—McCarthy, Venus, McFadden, McMillan, Murray, Kendrigan, Brooke, Duggan, Ryan, Stanaway, Douris, Kearney, Lavelle, Harrington.

Fourth Row—Breen, Harrington, Lively, O'Reilly, O'Connell, Murphy, Roach, McKeown, Plennevaux, Rowe, Mulholland, Shea, Lane.

MONROE CALCULATING CLUB

Under the instruction of Mr. Paul Pale, District Manager of the Monroe Calculator Company, a class in calculating was conducted this year for the first time at Central. The class consisted of fifteen members of the Senior commercial division. The company placed at the disposal of the girls, five machines, including four electric and one hand-operated machine.

This work afforded the girls a general review of all high school mathematics. To complete the required work in the school term, Mr. Pale arranged a special class at the Branch Office from seven to nine P. M. every Friday and Saturday evening.

The class members received Certificates of Proficiency from the National Office of the Monroe Company, located in Orange, New Jersey.

Mr. Paul Pale, Instructor; M. Seaman, A. Murray, M. Riley, A. Modl, E. McGuirl, R. Maloughney, L. McCarthy, A. Brown, M. Stanaway, C. Reilly, M. Hoiland, C. Meglan, A. Morgan, H. Doran, A. Murphy.

QUILL AND SCROLL SOCIETY

In April, eleven girls were initiated into the Quill and Scroll, international honorary society for high school journalists. This is the second group to be admitted into the society since the establishment of the Central Chapter in 1929. Candidates for membership must be members of the staff; they must be in the upper third of their class; and having done distinctive work in journalism, they must be recommended for membership by the supervisor, and approved by the international secretary.

The initiation ceremony was conducted by Mr. Paul Rooney, County Treasurer and former newspaper man. After the presentation of the pins by the Rev. M. J. Leonard, who acted as chairman, Mr. E. G. Leipheimer, editor of the Montana Standard, gave an address on journalism.

As an expression of appreciation of the work of the late Right Rev. John P. Carroll, D.D., founder of the school, the chapter was named the "Carroll Chapter" in his honor.

Front Row, Left to Right—Rev. M. J. Leonard, E. G. Leipheimer, Paul Rooney.
Second Row—A. Plennevaux, H. Venus, F. Harrington, M. Riley, E. McGuirl.
Back Row—M. Breen, C. O'Reilly, C. Meglen, R. Lively, A. Murphy, and Mary O'Leary.

JUNIOR DRAMATIC CLUB

Organized in the early part of the year, the Junior Dramatic Club had a very successful season. To enable more of the members to take an active part in the affairs of the club, it was divided into two sections, the classical, and commercial.

Catherine Connolly was chosen as director of the classical branch, while Nora Brouillette directed the commercials. Mae Mulholland and Norma Johnson were treasurers of the classicals and commercials respectively.

The members displayed talent not only in dramatics, but also in speaking, singing and dancing. The lively music of their orchestra added much pep to the Juniors' programs.

The Thanksgiving Day program, one of the snappiest of the year was presented by the dramatic club, and consisted of two short plays, recitations, selections by the orchestra, and dances. The plays presented were, "The Business Women's Club," and "Entertaining Royalty." These contained many comical situations, which sent the audience into peels of laughter, and testified to the great success of the club.

C. Connolly, President; M. Mulholland, Secretary-Treasurer; N. Brouillette, President; N. Johnson, Secretary-Treasurer.

CHEMISTRY CLASS

Those desiring to specialize in science, are given ample opportunity. The department given over to this study is complete in every detail, and the equipment is entirely up-to-date.

Chemistry and physics are taught in alternate years. The former was offered to the students this year, and about fifty girls enrolled. The study of this science gives us an insight into the changes that result in altering the composition of materials. Many interesting experiments have been performed, especially those relating to oxygen, hydrogen, textiles, the composition of milk, and the chemistry of photography. The standard barometers, air pumps and apparatus for distilling water, were constantly being pressed into service by these girls.

Because chemistry relates so much to our daily lives, and as the industrial advancement of a country is judged fairly well by the extent to which chemistry is cultivated in its schools, the girls are doing their utmost to advance in this science.

GENERAL SCIENCE

"The Magic Study" is the name given to General Science by the Freshmen. This study seems more of a reality to them, but no less enchanting than the story of Aladdin, the boy with the magic lamp. Owing to the well-equipped laboratory at Central, the General Science class learns to solve problems by scientific methods.

Since we are living in an age of science, worthy and useful citizenship in the home and community, requires that high school students have a knowledge of at least the elementary principles of this subject, and know how to apply these principles in improving the conditions of their environment.

The students have double periods four times a week, in which they perform many interesting experiments. They learn the relation of man to animal and plant life, and study such subjects as foods, soils, magnetism and electricity.

ORCHESTRA

This last year has proved most successful in the progress and activity of the orchestra. Practice was held three times a week, under the direction of Kathleen Harris, school music instructress, until the time of the operetta, when the work was taken over by Professor F. O. Jackson.

At an early date, the following officers were elected: President, Helen Marie Venus; Vice-President, Audrey Sheehy; Secretary, Monica Prendergast; and Treasurer, Cyrilla Meade.

The orchestra made several public appearances among which were, "The Queen of Kingdom Corners," given by the Immaculate Conception Dramatic Club. The Washington and Lincoln Day program, given by the Patriotic Organizations, the school operetta, and commencement exercises. They also entertained at the majority of school programs and assemblies.

M. Prendergast, saxophone; C. Hoar, bells; H. Venus, piano; L. Lane, trumpet; G. Sullivan, drums; A. Nolan, violin; B. Meade, violin; C. Meade, violin; A. Sheehy, violin; J. Shorett, bones; M. McGowan, violin.

T. C. CLUB

Every year the Sophomores form a Take Care Club. Officers are elected and the term is filled with both social and business activities. The purpose of this club is to encourage the use of correct English.

M. Miller and C. Gavigan, treasurers; M. Kenney, president; C. Taylor, secretary; H. McKeown, president; S. Kore, secretary.

KODAK CLUB

Class of '30 had an excellent group of Klickers. Under Mary Breen, Chief Klicker and Margaret Stanaway, assistant, the club had a successful year. The club enjoyed taking pictures for the annual.

Front Row—I. O'Keefe.

Second Row—M. Stanaway, H. Venus, B. Laramie, E. Gill, A. Brown.

Third Row—M. Holland, E. Brady, M. Cullinan, M. Breen, D. Blessinger.

ATHLETICS

Lawrence Manion

GYM ACTIVITIES

With speed and dash, the annual track meet brought to a close, athletics for the present school year.

Stronger competition among the classes made the "headliners" of the season very successful. The basketball tournament was the best of recent years. A great deal of enthusiasm was displayed during the swimming meet. The Freshies made a fine showing in this meet. The baseball league also drew a great number of enthusiasts.

Too much appreciation can not be accorded to Lawrence Manion, who worked diligently to make the contests interesting and to promote good sportsmanship among the girls.

SKATING CARNIVAL TEAM

For the second consecutive year, Central has participated in the Annual Ice Carnival at Clark Park, conducted under the auspices of the Parks and Play Grounds Committee of the City Council.

The team composed of Mgt. Keller, Norma Johnson, Helen O'Connell, and Mgt. Murray has won, these two years, silver medals for second place.

Norma Johnson, Margaret Keller, Helen O'Connell, Margaret Murray.

SCHOOL CHEERLEADER

Margaret Stanaway, peppy Senior, was elected yell-queen for the Football, Basketball, and Track season of '29 and '30. Margaret possessed all the vim and vigor necessary, and with the cooperation of the student body, the cheering section was considered the peppiest in the state.

As a token of appreciation, the Boys' Central lettermen presented Margaret with a monogram sweater bearing a megaphone, indicative of the cheer leader's art.

Margaret is to be congratulated for her successful season. All right, gang, let's give "fifteen" for the best Rah! Rah! Girl in the State.

Margaret Stanaway

CLASS CHEERLEADERS

Central will always have an extensive supply of good rah! rah! girls, if the pep displayed at the interclass tournament is any indication.

The girls were chosen by their classmates to sound the "battle cry" at the K. of C. basketball court. Their enthusiasm prompted the girl-athletes to fight valiantly for victory.

Front Row—H. Keller, M. Stanaway, H. McKeown.
Second Row—A. Corr, E. Connole, S. McFadden, B. Watson.
Third Row—H. O'Connell.

SENIOR BASKETBALL TEAM

Our team has always been considered a threatening one. Under the captainship of Evangeline O'Neil as Freshmen, and that of Helen O'Connell as Sophomores, we placed fourth in the interclass tourney.

Florence Harrington led us through a more successful Junior year. We placed third in the tournament after a hard game with the Seniors, who won second place. We eagerly anticipated our Senior year in the hope of becoming champions.

Nineteen thirty proved to be our most successful year, although the coveted title of champs was won by the Junior team. Under the leadership of Alice Dwyer, we had the honor of being "runners-up" after the last game of our basketball career. It was one of the fastest games of the season, the final score being 14 to 5.

A. Dwyer (center); A. Plennevaux (forward); H. O'Connell (guard); H. Venus (forward); F. Harrington (guard).

JUNIOR BASKETBALL TEAM

For the second consecutive year, the snappy Juniors claim the inter-class basketball championship. They completed a hard schedule undefeated. The championship encounter with the Seniors was a nip and tuck affair until the Red and Whites overcame the splendid defense of the "high and mighties."

Both the conquered and conquerors displayed excellent sportsmanship. The game was played with unlimited strategy by both teams, and the quick thinking and action of the Juniors, was the winning factor. Although the lower classmen were the leaders from the time the opening whistle blew till the final gong, the upper classmen fought with undaunted courage.

Walter Coyle, Junior coach, deserves a great deal of credit for the excellent manner in which he coached the victors. The Juniors have one more year of basketball ahead of them. Good luck, Juniors.

I. Harrington (forward); J. McKeown (Captain, guard); M. McCarthy (sub-forward); M. Roach (center); M. Brooke (sub-guard); M. Kendrigan (forward); M. Murray (guard).

SOPHOMORE BASKETBALL TEAM

Bonnie Watson led us through our Frosh basketball year. Although not successful, we showed fine sportsmanship.

This year under the capable direction of Coach "Mike" O'Leary, the Sophs won third place in the tournament. Although not as successful as we expected, we displayed the true fighting spirit of the Sophs. By upsetting the "dope" on the Freshies, we won a very spectacular and thrilling victory. In every game we displayed the keenest rivalry.

After such promising results in the last basketball tournament, much is expected in the oncoming athletic events from these sporty, flashy, peppy Sophs. Just watch these Sophs forge ahead in the athletic field during the next two years.

D. McCarthy (guard); B. Watson (forward); M. Sullivan (center); D. Gilmore (sub-guard); M. Anderson (sub-guard); H. McGonigle (sub-forward); H. McKeown (forward); R. McNulty (sub-guard).

FRESHMAN BASKETBALL TEAM

The Freshmen weren't so green when it came to selecting a good basketball team. This was shown by the manner the team played on the K. of C. floor. Of course, they didn't have the experience which the other teams had, but they did have plenty of grit and fight.

Their first game and the most exciting was against the mighty Seniors. Were they downhearted? No, they got into the game and fought as a team never fought before. They were beaten, but only after a long and hard struggle.

During the remainder of the tournament they were known as the "Fighting Greens." Don't you think they earned this name?

A. Watson (forward); F. Gullivan (sub-center); E. Shea (forward); M. Maillet (guard); A. Mulholland (center); A. Thivridge (forward); R. Shepperd (guard).

"Yes, they gave me the gate."

"What did you do about it?"

"I took it of course, silly. Wasn't it Hallowe'en?"

Tom (dancing with Charlotte)—Fools rush in where angels fear to tread.

Charlotte—Then get off my feet.

Mary—I wonder who this telegram is from.

Casey—Aw, it's from Western Union. I recognize the handwriting.

Our Nell says, "You may be a dumbell, but you're not the whole gymnasium.

Kathleen K.—You know I'm not as dumb as I look.

Missie—Of course not, that would be impossible.

Clerk—Pardon me, Miss, but you haven't paid for your purchases.

Eileen—Oh! I thought this was a gift shop.

Alice—Do you think that airplanes will ever supplant automobiles?

Jay—No. Who would want to park in a damp old cloud?

Clergyman (to Amelia, who was playing a jazz piece)—My dear young lady, have you ever heard of the Ten Commandments?

Amelia—Whistle a few bars and I'll see if I can follow you.

She—Isn't the moon wonderful tonight?

He—It ought to be, it cost two bucks a pint.

Chem. teacher—Name a poisonous substance.

M. B.—Aviation.

Chem. teacher—Explain yourself.

M. B.—One drop will kill.

Jess—Why did the salt shaker?

Don—I dunno.

Jess—Because he saw the spoon holder.

Shirley—How would you like to have a pet monkey?

Ann—Oh—This is so sudden!

Howard—Pass your exam in French?

Alice—Well, you see it was this way—

Howard—Neither did I. Shake.

Nit—What are you doing in school?

Wit—Oh, I'm getting along with E's.

Father—I hear you're always at the bottom of the class. Can't you get another place?

Son—No, all the others are taken.

Theodore—What makes that red spot on your nose?

Marie—Glasses.

Theodore—Glasses of what?

Billy—You're a good dancer.

Mary—I'm sorry I can't return the compliment.

Billy—You could if you were as big a liar as I am.

Casey met Kelly in his Sunday clothes.

"Are ye wurrkin' today?" queried Casey.

"No", said Kelly, "we declared a shtrike yissteday."

"For more pay?"

"No shorter hours."

"Oi don't blame ye! Oi always maintained sixty minutes waz too much for an hour—an Oi hopes ye wins."

M. B.—Why do you say your mouth is just like a parade ground?

C. D.—Two dentists have been drilling on it all morning.

First Student—What are you studying?

Second Student—Oh, I'm taking up French, Spanish, English, Italian, etc.

First Student—How do you do it?

Second Student—I just push a stick up and down.

First Student—What are you talking about?

Second Student—I'm an aviator.

"You were going well on your endurance flight. What made you come down?"

"Well, I was up 30 days, and I had to make a payment on the plane."

K. M.—Say, did the English shoot Joan of Arc?

C. T.—Naw, burned her at the stake.

K. M.—Well, I thought so too, but it says here she was canonized.

Cyrilla—I'm a magician.

Helen—Prove it.

Cyrilla—How shall I?

Helen—Go pull a thousand word theme, for English, out of my desk.

E. Gill in Sociology—Will someone bring us a few points about the family as an institution?

Someone—The family is an institution of learning, where a man loses his Bachelor's degree, but never gets his Master's.

And then Lois declares that these little mustaches around here tickle her so much. Whatdye think of that?

Andree—Who are your favorite movie stars?

A. M.—Lon Chaney—

Teacher—Who can give me a sentence with "avaunt" in it?

Abie—Avaunt what avaunt when avaunt it.

Miss Leary—How long did you study your lesson, Gladys?

Gladys W.—O, between 40 and 50 minutes.

Miss L.—I see—about 10 minutes.

Driver—Do you notice you don't hear that knock in the engine any more?

Friend—That's right. How did you fix it?

Driver—Oh, I just loosened up one of the mudguards!

"Terribly rough," said the stranger on board the ocean liner.

"Well," said the farmer, "it wouldn't be near so rough if the captain would only keep in the furrows."

"Did you give our daughter that copy of 'What Every Girl Should Know'?"

"Yes," replied mother despondently, "and she's writing a letter to the author suggesting a couple of dozen corrections and the addition of two new chapters."

She—No one understands me.

He—No wonder; your mother was a telephone operator and your father a train announcer.

Reginald—Papa, if I were twins, would you buy the other boy a balloon, too?

His father—Certainly, my son.

Reginald—Well, Papa, you surely aren't going to cheat me out of another balloon just 'cause I'm all in one piece, are you?

Freshie Boy—Every block must have an alley.

The farmer's boy had upset a load of hay in the road, and stood regarding it in a puzzled, uncertain fashion.

"Hadn't you better go and tell your father about it?" asked a motorist whose progress was blocked by the disaster.

"He knows," replied the boy.

"He knows? Then where is he?" demanded the motorist.

"He's under the hay," was the answer.

Mike (standing on bridge looking at reflection of the moon)—Say, me bye, what's that down there?

Pat—Oh, that's the moon.

Mike—Shure, and how did I ever git away up here?

Father—What did you and John talk about last night?

Daughter—Oh, about our kith and kin.

Small Brother—Yeth, Pop, I heard 'em, he said "Kin I have a kith" and she said, "Yeth you kin."

C. M.—If the president, vice-president and cabinet should die, who would officiate?

June—The undertaker.

Teacher—I am tempted to give you a test.

Mae—Yield not to temptation.

Teacher—Have you done any outside reading?

Flossie—No. It's been too cold.

R. M.—What makes the tower of Pisa lean?

M. Mc.—If I knew I'd take some myself.

TRY THESE ON YOUR SAX

I saw six long, slim, slick saplings for sale.

Strict, strong, Stephen Stringer snared slickly, six silky snakes.

Sadie Setherway saw Sandy Snookums soaped and shaving.

Sheila saw a shot silk sash shop full of shop silk sashes when the sun shone on the shop.

He—Are you fond of moving pictures, Jennie?

She (hopefully)—Aye, Sandy.

He—Then, maybe, lass, 'e'll help me get half a dozen doon oot o' th' attic.

"John D. Rockefeller has a dollar for every hair on your head."

"Yes, and I've got a dollar for every hair on his head."

Mildred—How many seasons are there?

Dutch—Three.

Mildred—Only three? What are they?

Dutch—Football, basketball and track.

Charlotte—Were you trying to catch that bus?

Evelyn—No, I was just frightening it away from the corner.

Bill—Time must hang heavy on your hands.

Venus—Why?

Bill—Because you have such a large wrist watch.

Traffic Cop—Lady, do you know how to drive a car?

Jane—Oh, yes, what is it you want to know?

M. M.—Waiter, a little bird told me that this coffee is cold.

Waiter—A little bird, sir?

M. M.—Yes, a swallow.

Rebecca—I have a habit of talking to myself.

Margaret—I've always wondered why you looked so bored.

"Were you lucky at the races yesterday?"

"I'll say I was. I found a quarter on the way out of the grounds, so I didn't have to walk home."

"Waiter, why do I find a piece of rubber tire in my hash?"

"I don't really know, sir, except that the automobile is replacing the horse everywhere."

Beatrice—How do you like my new photograph?

Isabelle—Fine; did you sit for it yourself?

Twinkle, twinkle, little star
How I wonder what you are,
Out upon the movie screen,
Forty-eight or sweet sixteen.

Father—Betty, I want you to come from that party at a reasonable hour and not with the Milkman.

Betty—But, father, how absurd. He won't be there.

First Eskimo—What do you think of the weather?

Second—Not so hot.

Catherine—What was that noise I heard in your room last night?

Dot—That was me falling asleep.

Latin teacher—Legis ragis bonae sunt. Translate, Bert.

C. S.—The king's legs are bony.

Ernest—What are you shivering for?

Pat—I got zero on my exam.

Ernest—How far were you from the right answers?

Pat—Two seats to the left.

'Twas in a restaurant they met,
Romeo and Juliet,
And when he left he was in debt,
For Romeowed what Juliet!

Student (translating Latin):
Then the heavily armed soldier sat on one hand and shouted with the other.

Traffic Cop—Didn't you see me wave my hand?

Aileen—Yes, but I'm not that kind of a girl.

Teacher (in study hall)—Order please!

Gordon (absent mindedly) —
Make mine a chocolate malted milk.

Do you hear the ocean moaning?
Moaning soft and low;
'Tis because a fat old bather
Stepped upon its undertow.

M. R.—It's wonderful how my hair parts exactly in the middle.

K. R.—Yes, in dead center, as it were.

"Did you fail in Latin?"

"Well, rather, I got zero in the final."

"I see, one of those students who stops at nothing."

Math. Teacher—If I tear a piece of paper into four, what do I get?

Mud—Quarters.

M. T.—And if I divide it into eight?

Mud—Eighths.

M. T.—And if I divide it into eight thousand parts?

Mud—Confetti, sir.

Teacher (in English)—Evelyn, have you read "Freckles"?

Evelyn (blushing)—No, ma'am. mine are brown.

Book Agent (to farmer)—You ought to buy an encyclopedia now that your boy is going to school.

Farmer—Not on your life. Let him walk as I did.

St. Peter — Hast thou been through Purgatory?

Student (before pearly gates)—No, but I've been through exams this week.

St. Peter—Enter!

Bill—You always remind me of a quarter moon.

Dot—Because my presence sheds a soft, tender glow! ! ? ?

Bill—No, because you're not very bright.

C.—Well Charles, we got our report cards today.

Charles—Well, I'll be remembered long after my time.

C.—How do you figure that?

Charles—I went down in history.

Traffic Cop—Hey, you can't make a turn to the right.

June—Why not?

Traffic Cop—Well, a right turn is wrong here, the left turn is right. If you want to turn right turn left and then, aw, go ahead!

"Who gave the bride away?"

"Her little brother. He stood up in the middle of the ceremony and yelled, 'Hurrah, Fannie, you have him at last'."

MODERN VERSION

Teacher—What did Juliet say when she met Romeo in the balcony?

Flip Pupil—Couldn't you get seats in the orchestra?

Frosh—Will you hold these books for me?

Prexy—I am President of this school.

Frosh—That's all right. You look honest.

Phyllis—Will you love me when my hair is gray?

Ernie—Why not, haven't I stuck with you through brown, black, red and blonde?

Ambitious college youth (to senator)—How did you become such a wonderful orator?

Senator—I began by addressing envelopes.

Julia—Did you ever hear of a person killed by a deadly glance?

Irene—No, but I know of a guy who got a broken arm due to an empty stair.

C. M.—My watch isn't going.

V. H.—Was it invited?

"Raining Pitchforks" is bad enough, but when it comes to "Hailing Street Cars," it's pretty bad weather.

WHAT ARE WE COMING TO?

Teachee, teachee
All day teachee;
Papers markee
Nerves all creepee
No one kissee
No one huggee
Poor old maidee
No one lovee.

A little fellow, after his first day at school while walking home with Marjie Burnham, proudly announced that he could write; and to prove it he made some scrawls in her notebook.

"But what does it mean, dear," she asked.

"How do I know," he said. "I haven't learned to read it yet."

RECITATION BY TEN MEN

The pup stood on the burning deck,
The flames came all around his neck!

HOT DOG!

Fat man at the show to little boy behind—Can't you see, young fellow?

Little Boy—Not a thing.

F. M.—Then keep your eyes on me and laugh when I do.

C. M.—How are you coming along with your reducing?

K. L.—I guess I must be one of those poor losers.

M. K.—I cut a Spanish class today.

M. E.—Did it bleed much?

A.—Someone was telling me that we are to have a new concrete school for girls.

B.—Yes, the alumni have decided to use their heads.

Pupil—Teacher, you'll have to give me a higher grade in English.

Teacher—Well, I'll think about it.

Pupil—Think about it nothing, give it to me or else—

Teacher—Or else what?

Pupil—Else I'll keep the one I've got.

Student—I say, teacher, I need a little light on this subject.

Teacher—Might I suggest a little reflection?

L. M.—Isn't Rose fond of arguing?

D. M.—I should say she is; why she won't even eat anything that agrees with her.

Ceil (to sobbing Freshman)—What's wrong, dear?

Montana—I w-w-want to send a letter by air mail and I c-c-can't find any fly paper.

Peggy—We're calling our little brother after Julius Caesar.

Patsy—Why?

Peggy—Well, he got here too late to call him before him.

Pauline—You're pretty smart, but I know something you can't do.

Marg. L.—What?

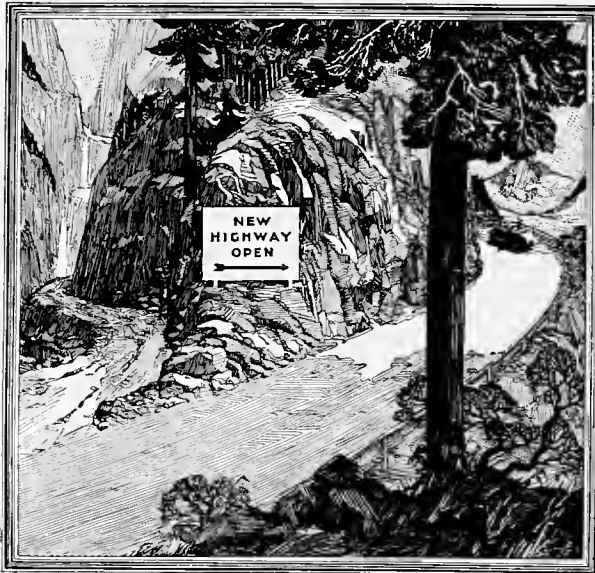

Pauline—Sit in the corner of a round-house.

Frosh—I never miss my lessons.

Junior—How come?

Frosh—I never recite them.

The Indian trail zig-zagging through the forest is now only a tradition. The white settler cleared and widened it, but scientific road building blasted hillsides to gain a mile and save half an hour. The new industrial era demanded a direct, smooth, swift, modern system of highways.

For 38 years Stafford has been a scientific annual builder. Early methods have been improved upon or discarded. Experience has blasted away trying obstacles that eat up energy and block efficient management. Make Stafford your construction engineer and enjoy the direct modern methods embodied in books bearing the phrase

"Engraved by Stafford"
